“Dunkle Stimmen”, the eleventh CD of the Wohlhauser Edition on NEOS, contains nine works for various ensemble combinations. All compositions were recorded by the ‘Duo Simolka-Wohlhauser’, with the composer himself, alongside soprano Christine Simolka, taking part as a baritone, pianist and percussionist. The texts set to music are almost exclusively poems written by René Wohlhauser. Only in Une nuit toute passionnée he used extracts from a letter from Simone de Beauvoir to Jean-Paul Sartre.

Some of the works, such as Im lauterem Sein, Miramso bale, Geworfne Akrobaten and also Une nuit toute passionnée, have already appeared on earlier Wohlhauser Edition CDs, but here in versions with new instrumentation. This impressively demonstrates the multi-faceted range of René Wohlhauser's compositional work.
